Rules of the Game

1. Players and Substitutes
   a. The game is a half-court game played between two players.
   b. No substitutes are allowed.

2. The Game
   a. The winner is determined by the best 2 out of 3 games.
      i. All games will be self-officiated.
      ii. The first player to reach 11 points for each game will be declared the winner.
   b. The winner of a coin toss shall take possession of the ball to begin the 1st game. The losing player from game one will take possession to begin the second game. If necessary, a coin toss will determine possession for the final game.

3. Scoring and the Check-Line
   a. Score will be kept by the players.
      i. The score will be announced by the team in possession of the ball after every made basket
   b. All made baskets are worth 2 or 3 points. There are no free throws.
      i. 2 points will be awarded for a field goal made inside the 3-point line.
      ii. 3 points will be awarded for a field goal made from outside the 3-point line.
   c. Possession of the ball changes after each made basket.
   d. The “check-line” is anywhere outside the three-point line. One foot completely outside the check-line with possession of the ball constitutes a legal check.
      i. After a defensive rebound (whether or not the ball hits the rim) or a defensive steal, the player in possession of the ball must step behind the check-line before attempting to score
   e. At the start of each game, after a score, and after a foul is awarded, the ball must be checked with the opposing team.
   f. A held ball is awarded to the player who is behind in score. If the score is tied, the held ball goes to the offense.

4. Fouls
   a. All games are self-officiated. Fouls may be called by either the player who commits the foul or the offended player.
i. Disagreements will be settled by the offended player shooting an unguarded 3-point shot. If they make the shot, they will be awarded possession of the ball. If they miss the shot, the opposing player will be awarded possession of the ball.

b. An individual cannot foul out of a game.

c. Any common foul shall result in loss of possession for the offending player.

d. Any offensive foul shall result in disregarding a goal and loss of possession.

e. If a player is fouled in the act of shooting and a goal is scored, the foul is disregarded. In this scenario, there is still a change in possession after the score.

f. If a player is fouled in the act of shooting and a goal is not scored, the foul is enforced. In this scenario, the offensive player will retain possession.
